TIM SULLIVAN'S HORSE WINS BIG RACE AT JAMAICA.

Goes Back in the Betting to 7 to 1, but Jack Martin Makes a Runaway of It.—Public Lose on W. H. Carey and King's Daughter-Record Beating Crowd at Track.

Rig Tim Sullivan and his many followers had a glorious outing yesterday. They went to the Jamaica racetrack and saw Dr. Gardner. the four-year-old Bannockburn-Uarda colt, for whom Sullivan and Frank J. Farrell paid $15,000 last summer, win the $10,000 Excelsior Handicap, one mile and a sixteenth, in a gallop. Dr. Gardner ran in Big Tim's colors, black, gray sleeves and cap, and with 123 pounds, top weight, and Jack Martin on his back, he made a show of thirteen other but for the reason that the colt, backed for thousands at odds on the other day, was for thousands at odds on the other day, was easily beaten by Athlete and Orphan Lad in a seven furlong handicap, the Sullivan clan would probably have backed him off the boards yesterday. Lacking confidence in him, however, Sullivan, Farrell, Dave John-cea and others who trail with them made convaryingly small was as a contractively small was a seven as a contractively small was a contractive or contractive comparatively small wagers, so that the price against Dr. Gardner was as good as 12 to 1 in some books when the field reached the starter. The bookmakers opened him at from the paddock the general quotation all ver the big ring was 7 to 1.

Dr. Gardner had a position on the extreme outside of the track at the post, which was one of the reasons why his owners and their one of the reasons why his owners and their friends did not care to risk big money on his chances. But it mattered little to Jack Martin, who recklessly hustled the $15,000 colt across the track to the inner rail as soon as the gate went up, a proceeding that caused much bumping and crowding, together with a whole lot of rough riding. After that Martin actually stood up in the stirrups all the way to the wire, never extending Dr. Gardner in the slightest degree and easing him up at the end, where he won by a length and a half in the comparatively slow/time of 1:45:1-5.

J. H., McCormick's Glorifler, neglected at 12 to 1, who won the Carter Handicap from mighty Roseben, was second, three lengths in front of Sydney Paget's Cairngorm, a to to 1 shot, who staggered home a head in front of James R. Keene's Philander, 20 to 1. Philander came from far back in the last quarter of a mile and would have been third in another jump. He was two lengths in frent of August Belmont's Okenite, coupled with Don Diego and well played at 8 to 1. W. H. Carey, the California horse, who opened favorite at 5 to 2 but went back to 7 to 2, was a victim of the jam just before the lower turn was reached and was knocked after. King's Daughter, who was sufficiently played to make her close an equal favorite with Carey, was prominent for about three-quarters of a mile and then blew up. The short, abrupt turns in the track made the race rather unsatisfactory from several points of view, inasmuch as it was a scramble prac-tically all the way after Dr. Gardner went to

The race was a distinct triumph for Jack Martin, who rode Dr. Gardner with consummate skill. It also demonstrated the fact that the son of Bannockburn has not been overrated after all, and that he still looks like one of the best race horses in training. In future events, particularly the big handicaps for which he is eligible, Dr. Gardner on his performance in the Excelsion will probably be regarded as a factor. He handled his burden yesterday like a real stake horse and won with such ridiculous ease that after it was all over many turfman were ready to hail him champion. Dr. Gardner con-ceded twelve pounds by the scale to Glorifier, Cairngorm and Dolly Spanker: one to Philander, two to Okenite and J. C. Core, ten to Oxford, eleven to Good Luck, thirteen to W. H. Carey, ten to King's Daughter, thirteen to Don Diego, twenty-four to Samuel H. Harris and twelve to Berkeley. The race was worth $7,500 to the winner, and the largest sawd that ever assembled at the track, estiing up galleps through the short stretch, and of the fourteen starters Dr. Gardner, W. H. Carey, King's Daughter, J. C.-Core, Don Diego, Okenite and Philander attracted the most attention. Dr. Gardner, who was bred by Barney Schreiber, was saddled by Frank D. Weir, his trainer, who advised the stable connections not to bet much, because the aition. So the word was passed around that "Big Tim" was only going to "bet a few beans" on the horse, instead of gesting in a great plunge. This bit of information spread like wildfire among the faithful from the Bowery, and instead of dashing into the betting ring o get aboard the big fellow's friends wandered up into the grand stand to merely "look Little did they think as they took their seats that a chance to win a fortune was about to slip through their fingers. This here Doctor Gardner," said one of the henchmen, "ran like a prize pig the other day and we were down for our lives. The big feller lose a bunch and so did the other fellers that are in with him. As Tim ain't crazy he ain't goin' to bet more than a few hundreds on the nag and that will be only out o' sympathy. It's a good race to look

Meanwhile the big crowd, which had come to the beautiful track beat on backing R. F. arman's horse W. H. Carey, found that instead of Mountain another jockey, Koerner, had been engaged. As Mountain had ridden Carey in all three of his recent victories. there was a tendency to get cold feet when Koerner's name appeared on the jockey board. Not that Koerner is not a good rider, but the crowd have more confidence in Mountain. That was all. Then again it was said that (arey, a big striding horse, would not be able to negotiate the sharp turns, while in view of the fact that the homestretch out that the California horse would also be seriously handicapped in this way.

et in spite of these arguments the public het on Carey to the extent of thousands of dollars, while the "insiders" kept aloof and backed T. C. McDowell's King's Daughter. who ran six furlongs the other day in 1:13 flat with 128 pounds on her back. Although some believed that the Excelsior distance was a trifle too far for King's Daughter, others front at the outset she might set a fast pace and remain in command to the end. With eighteen pounds less than the burden she therefore, was backed from 4 to 1 down to to 2, closing an equal favorite with Carey.

There was a steady play across the board on August Belmont's three-year-old Okenite, howon the Sterling Stakes on Wednesday in the style, and his stable mate, Don Diego. who ran third in the Carter Handicap. The pair opened at 8 and stayed at that price right up to the end of the speculation. Paddy bullivan. Big Tim's brother, was represented in the race by Samuel H. Harris, a son of Sir Walter, and when it was learned that Dr. Gerdner was not looked upon as a cinch Harris was backed from 30 to 1 down to 15. The Milrites took J. C. Core, the Newcastle Stable's food three-year-old, who was started for the dest time. All of the others went up in the letting, but practically everything in the race Carried wagers large and small. In fact the 280 bookmakers had all the business they

Carey, Dolly Spanker and Dr. Gardner stretched across in the order named to the King's Daughter soon kicked Oxford in the ribs with her heels, which were flying every which way. The mare seemed to breed disorder, for the longer the horses stood at the post the more they out up. Finally Martin, who had never taken his eyes off the starter, virtually beat the barrier. He let Dr. Gardner have his head and kicking him in the ribs with his heels he urged the Bannockburn colt shead at full speed. It was this alertness at the post on the part of Martin that probably wen the race, for he caught all of the other bays napping.

With a wonderful turn of speed Dr. Gardner fairly flew over the soft turf in a mad dash for the inner rail. The other jookeys were using their whips and spurs in frantic were using their whips and spurs in frantic efforts to get into the van and escape the inevitable Jam on the lower turn. Martin, without regard for the consequences, cut scross in front of the others at top speed and grabbed the rail just as he reached a point opposite the clubhouse. In less than two hundred yards he had secured the coveted position, but it caused an upset in the calculations of the crowd in general, for W. H. Carey, to the dismay of his army of backers, was knocked back and was also pulled up short by Koerner to escape a fall. Oxford, too, was practically shut out of all chance to be anywhere and so was Good Luck, while King's Daughter, caught in the middle of the jam, lost so much ground that when Schilling found an opening for her he made so much use of her that she was practically run into the ground in the middle of the backstretch.

Melawhile Dr. Gardner, under a pull, was galloping out in front, while the Sullivans were wild with excitement. The horse was going so easily that it seemed impossible for anybody to overhaul him. Right up the short going so easily that it seemed impossible for anybody to overhaul him. Right up the short backstretch he galloped with a lead of two lengths, followed by Glerifier. Cairngorm, King's Daughter. Don Diego and H. W. Car sy, heads apart as named. Carey had run around the field in his attempt to get within striking distance of the pacemaker and Koerner was now letting him have a breathing speit.

When three-quarters of a mile had be en covered Dr. Gardner was still in front, having increased his lead to three lengths. Glorifier, under hard riding, was chasing him gamely, with Cairngorm also displaying pluck. But the others had begun to drop back, and even Carey, always a strong finisher, seemed to be hanging in his stride as they reached the end of the far turn. As Martin neared the field stand a tremendous roar greeted Dr. Gardner. The colt was still galleping easily, his mouth wide open and his rider standing up in the stirrups, with a light hold on the bridle. Martin looked back then at the horses behind him and as he saw nothing dangerous he just let the Bannockburn colt gallop on down to the judges, while thousands threw hats, canes, umbrellas and even money in the air in one of the wildest demonstrations ever seen on an American racetrack.

Dr. Gardner qould probably have won "by a city block" if Martin had cared to show him up at the end with perfect confidence. Garner persevered with Glorifler, who ran in greatly improved form, but could get nothing better than the place. When Carey and King's Daughter reeled home in the ruck the book-makers took a turn at cheering, for they won an avalanche of money on the result of the race.

An exciting throng surreunded the judges and when Martin rode hack to the scales.

An exciting throng surrounded the judges' stand when Martin rode back to the scales, and both jockey and horse received an ovation that lasted until they passed on to the paddock. Then the band struck up 'The laughed heartily. Big Tim, who sat in the middle of the grand stand, was quickly surrounded by his followers, who warmly congratulated him. He was as happy as a schoolboyand indulged in airy persifiage with those triumph for the Sullivans, Farrell, Weir and Dr. Gardner, even if the ring was not

This was not the only success of Martin, for the recently reinstated jockey put up a superb ride on Dave Johnson's Handzarra

The best individual players were McNicol on the attack and Draddy on the defence for the freshmen, and for Poly Prep Carlin on the attack and Brown on the defence excelled.

GOSSIP OF THE RACETRACK.

BIG TIM'S FRIENDS WHOOP IT UP AFTER DR. GARDNER WINS.

like Clancy Sorry He Tipped Carey Whet He's Told the Horse Is Named After the Informer-Pat McCarren Has Two Setbacks-Plungers Win on Handzarra.

"Say, Tim," cried Mike Clancy, as he climbed up the steps of the grand stand at Jamaica yesterday and got a seat beside Timothy D. Sullivan, "I want to advise ye's agin' bettin' on Docther Gardner! He ain't a good horse at all. If yes wants to win a bet, why this hoss W. H. Carey is the best in the world. I seen him run out in Californy this winter and he kin beat all the Docther Gardners "Keep yer tips to yerself," said Big Tim.
"Dr. Gardner is a great racehorse and will

"Are yez goin' ter bet on him?" queried Clancy.
"Sure," was the reply.

"Thin, I want to tell yez that you'll be sorry whin Carey wins!"

They were crowding around the "Big Fellow" after the victory, when Sullivan caught sight of Clancy on the edge of the mob. "Come here, Mike," said Timothy, with an assumed scowl. "How could you tip a horse that is named after Carey, the informer.

"Is he?" exclaimed Clancy. "Why didn't rez tell me that whin I was talkin' to yez before? I'd a bet on the Docther sure!" Then everybody roared. In the group that fought for a chance to shake the hand of Sullivan were little Tim, Florrie, Christie, Paddy, Denny, Johny White, Charlie White, George Kraus, Larry Mulligan, Roxie Angarola, Dutch Wenthouse, Willie Shea, Jack Adler and others. They whooped it up in great style. Then along came Frank Farrell, who advised Big Tim to buy Dr. Gardner last summer, and they shook hands warmly. Sullivan fairly bubbled over. "I'm glad Dr. Gardner won," he said, "be-cause I knew all along that he was a good racehorse. But I'm sorry he got beaten the other day, because if he had won that race the public would have backed him off the boards to-day, and I want the public to win whenever I do. I cannot account for the colt's defeat at Aqueduct. I bet on him heavily then, but only had a small wager three ways on him to-day. Trainer Weir did not believe it was wise to risk much on him in that field. But I do not care about the betting end of it so much as I do the race itself. Wasn't it a beauty? Why. Dr. Gardcertainly rode him in magnificent style and deserves a world of credit. I hope to win the Metropolitan now, and maybe the Brooklyn. To me Dr. Gardner looks the horse of the year and from now on he will be a hard proposition to beat. Racing has a great hold on the public just now, for I've never seen such a crowd here before. Too bad all of these people did not have a bet on the Doctor."

Brooklyn's political leader, Senator McCar-ren, didn't have the luck of Sullivan, for McCarren and his friends lost a bundle of wagers on Bellsnicker and Gold Heart in the last two races. Bellsnicker was served up by Roger Minton, the trainer, as real jam. and from 4 to 1 he was pounded down to 8 to 8 favorite. The elubhouse seemed in a frenzy to play the horse and many big commissions were sent into the ring. But Notter, who rode Bellanicker, went out racing in front horse was literally run off his feet. Mean-Jimmy McCormick had his checks on Mary Morris, who was backed down to 4 to 5 at the last moment. McCormick put up little Sumter on the mare again, and she breezed home, while Garner, who rode Glorifier for McCormick in the Excelsior, had the leg up on Lady Alicia, who, in spite of the fact that she opened an 8 to 5 favorite, could not be given away in the ring and went up to

to 1, ran absolutely last.

"Gold Heart is McCarren's best two-yearold! He is a world beater and can run five furlongs in better than a minute!" said the smart paddock sharps when the betting on the last race began. Gold Heart is a magnificent He had been going great guns in his trials and so confident were his backers that he was hammered down from 7 to 5 to even money. In fact it was impossible to get down a good sized wager on him in the ring at the last moment. Notter seemed to have some trouble in making him break at the barrier and after that the colt ran as if both green and sluggish. It was a case of thoanning on the part of Tartar Maid, who went up in the burst of speed on the far turn, having made

Mr. Keene's Transvaal, well backed by the public at 9 to 5, was slow to get into his stride. but should not be passed up. At the head of the stretch Brady, a colt owned by H. Miller, was jumped on and badly cut down behind. Mountain pulled him up and the colt was Alauda, who ran third in this race in the colors of R. T. Wilson, Jr., is a colt by Ornament— L'Alouette. When the betting began on this old races just new, put up 4 to 5 "and take your pick."

The Excelsior Handicap was run for the first time in 1903, when the late W. C. Whitney's Blackstock, a four-year-old, with 98 pounds, won it in 1:46 2-5. In 1904 F. R. Docter's Rostand, a four-year-old, with 105, won in 1:46 3-5. In 1905 the Albermarle Stable's Santa Catalina, a three-year-old, 93 pounds, was successful, in 1:46 2-5. Last year's winner was the Newcastle Stable's Merry Lark, a four-year-old, 103 pounds, who ran the distance in 1:47 1-5.

The victory of Handzarra cost the books a large amount. From 8 to 3 down to even money she was backed. Dave Johnson, Frank Farrell, James Gaffney, the Sullivans and practically the combined clubhouse, together with nearly all of the big betters in the ring, went to this mare as if it was all over but the cashing. She was in rare good form, but Martin wisely did not show her up. Voorhees, who ran second, is the colt who broke a world's record at Belmont Park last year. He is now owned by O. B. Spreckles y handled the stable of John A.Drake. Handzarra gave nine pounds to Voorhees and was in receipt of five from Pretension, who was heavily backed for the place. Waterbury, who was just out of the money, is owned by R. F. Carman. Avaunteer, in this race, a disappointment. lost a swell bet on her. So he passed her up, only to see her breeze home at odds of 8 to 1. Nobody bet on Thomas Calhoun, who got the place at long odds, while Youthful, who got third money after running a remarkable race, was chiefly backed to show. The plunge was of immense proportions. The crowd simply mobbed, the layers in a wild rush to get any sort of a price against the son of Voter, who was wiped off the slates when he started for the post. Not satisfied with keeping all the coin placed on the Keens youngster, the chalkers hauled in a wagonloat of wealth lest on Bob Tucker's Melzar, a colt by Woolthorpe, who was backed down to 7, and also on the Highness filly Please, played down to 4. Flease ran in the colors of J. W. May, who bought her the other day from Pave Gideon. The start in this race made Rome how!, so to speak, as Please, Citizen and Youthful did not get away well enough to have a chance of winning there-

With Keater scratched out of the first race, the sure thing players went to Robn Hoed, who was backed from 3 to 5 down to 7 to 20 Those who did not care to take such a risk went to Dr. H oilis a place, at 4 to 5. They ran one, two and the ring lost all kinds of money. Cir na pulled up lame. When Biskra won H. T. Griffin bid the filly up to $1,400 from her entered price. $500, but Trainer Joyner retained her with the usual $5 increase.

Starter Cassidy suspended Jockeys Bull-man and Crimmins for the rest of the meeting because of disorderly conduct at the post in FENCING.

At the Montclair Golf Club there have never been any restrictions against Sunday golf, and the members are at a loss to know why it has been sent out from that town that the club has held a meeting to vote on the question. Sunday play, as it does not offend the churchgoers from the location of the course, has been allowed by the club in the past and no change is contemplated.

TO-DAY'S CARD FOR JAMAICA. Paumonok Handicap and Elmhurst Stakes

Another big crowd will probably visit the Jamaica track to-day to see the running of the Paumonek Handicap, six furlengs, and the Elmhurst Stakes, for two-year-olds, five furlongs. For the Paumonok it looks as if Handzarra, Superman, Oraculum and Pantouffe have the best chances. For the Elmhurst, Blue Heron, Rustle and Masks and Faces look the best. Keator will be played to beat Donna Elvira, Cloisteress, Tony Bonero and others in the first race, at six furlongs.

In the second event, a handicap at a mile and 70 yards, Orbicular, Tartan and Dishabille may run well. The fifth event is for platers, at a mile and a sixteenth, with Marathon, Jack McKeon and Gilpin figuring well. Maiden two-year-olds will run in the last race, at five furlongs with Sepoy, Rosario and Senator Beckham formidable. The entries follow:

BROCKETT PITCHES WELL BOR NEW YORK AMERICANS.

Shut Out Bostons and Still Lead -- Clevelands Lose to Chicagos and Detroits Are Too Much for St. Louis Team.

The scoring was light in the American League yesterday. Two of the teams did not score at all. They were the Washingtons, who lost to the New Yorks, and the Bostons, who met the Philadelphias. Griffith's new pitcher, Brockett, did well and was reliable and cool at critical times, of which there were a number. The Clevelands lost to the Chicago: and fell back to fifth place, Detroit going into the first division by beating St. Louis. The

NEW YORK (A. L.), 4: WASHINGTON, 6.

The New York Americans shut out the Washingtons tidily on the heights yesterday, making four runs themselves and hitting the ball when needed with the same orderly execution with which they took care of the enemy's attack. The Washingtons were knocking at the door of a run often—ten of them died on the bases—but they could not send the ball to a safe spot when men were on bases. They batted the ball in the air too much, a weakness which had a great deal to do with their being blanked; but in one instance they had downright hard luck, a vicious liner, with the bases all tenanted, going straight to a fielder for a double play. That was in the fourth inning, and though there were later opportunities, none was so inviting.

Maestro Griffith sent Brockett to the redoubt to do the firing, and the recurit from Buffalo pitched an excellent game. Clean hits were made off him, but they were neither numerous nor bunched. He kept them scattered. A shower came along in the eighth inning and Griffith substituted Keefe for Brockett, figuring that the former would have better control of the wet ball.

Danny Hoffman, who made one run and batted in two, runted in the first inning, beat Schlafly's throw, and as that throw had the additional demerit of being wild Hoffman raced to second. Keeler bunted, and to all appearances beat Graham's throw, but Hurst called him out. However, he established a foothold for Hoffman on third, whence Hoffman scored on Elberfeld's fly to Ganley.

The Washingtons had three on bases in the second.

tablished a foothold for Hoffman on third, whence Hoffman scored on Elberfeld's fly to Ganley.

The Washingtons had three on bases in the second. Anderson walked and Altizer filed to Keeler. Hickman singled, Anderson going to second. When he tried to take third a moment later, Kleinow's throw cut him down. Perrine was safe on Moriarity's fumble and Warner popped to Elberfeld. In the fourth there were three Washingtonana on bases with nobody out. Cross singled, Anderson walked and Altizer singled. Conroy had hold of Altizer's single in no time and held Cross at third. Hickman skied to Moriarity and Perrine lashed a furious liner to Mory, on which the latter citizen doubled up Altizer at first. Elberfeld doubled through Cross in the fourth, moved along on an out and scored on Laporte's hit to centre. There was crude base running by the Washingtons in the fifth. Warnen hit for two bases and from that aerie watched Brockett toss Graham out. Ganley hit straight to Laporte and Warner ran smack into the latter with the ball in his hands. Schlafig walked, then came the inevitable fly. Cross to Hoffman. There was a bit of high grass ball by the Washingtons while this was going on. When Ganley was at second the pitcher threw there to catch him napping. The ball rolled a few feet away from Elberfeld. Ganley picked fit up, threw it to left field and forthwith galloped madly home. Such brilliant taction did not make a hit with Hurst, who directed Ganley to reoccupy his abode on the second hillock. Cantillon filed a demurrer, but in vain.

second hillock. Cantillon filed a demurrer, but in vain.

Jack Anderson flounced a two bagger to port in the sixth, but the succeeding trinity of tapsters, Altizer, Hickman and Perrine, marooned him at second with a flock of futile flies. The New Yorks bumped Graham tempestuously in the seventh and issued a series on interest bearing hits. With Conroy down Moriarity drew four balls. Kleinow crammed a single to centre, but Moriarity was forced at third on Brockett's hit in front of the plate. Hoffman seasoned the dish with a two bagger that crowned the pilgrimage of Kleinow and Brockett with success. The score:

BOSTON (N. L.), 4; BROOKLYN, 2. The Bostons concentrated their scoring in one inning at Washington Park yesterday, gathering in four runs while the spell was on them, and by so doing heaped an additional load of sorrow on the burdened shoulders of the Brooklyns. The final score was 4 to 2. The Bostons played without an error, batted freely and were hustlers on the bases. No grass grew under their feet from one extremity of the game to the other. They all played good ball, the most active one of their number being Bates, who tore the ball to tatters.

New Haven, April 26.—It was announced by Capt. J. W. Marshall of the Yale track team to-night that a joint challenge for an international track meet on American soil will be signed by Yale and Harvard to-morrow in New York and sent to England. S. Sumner of Yale and J. Rowe of Harvard, managers of their college track teams, will draw up and forward the challenge to Oxford and Cambridge, expecting to receive a reply abo it two weeks .-From advices received from abr and toe representatives of the two American univer-sities are pretty sure that the challenge will be welcomed in England. Both Tale and flar-vard athle es are now planning their training to include work for the bin track event. Mr. Marshall said that it would be nic idea to have the contest reld at the tiarvard Stadium on July 4 it possible. As to finances he said the event would pay for theself a thou much doubt, but in case of a failure o come out even the graduates could be counted on for constitutions.

the gradiates could be counted of for con-tributions.

"Yale is whinping her track team into shape," said Capt. Marshall, "but I can tell little as to the developments of the individuals intil after the spring university games. Barring possible accidents we should do well in the intercollegiales and the interna-tional races if they are arranged."
